

Brighton Young Film Makers Film Making

Brighton Young Film Makers offers workshops and training for young people aged between 12 - 16. These dynamic workshops will introduce students to both practical and organisational elements of making a short film. Through attending either our week long summer workshop or a series of evening, weekend or day sessions during school holidays, students will be able to produce work that could be submitted to achieve a BTEC Level 2 Certificate (equivalent to a GCSE).

Students will be given instruction in using HDV cameras, professional tripods, Boom, mic and clappers, as well as editing using iMovie or for the more advanced, Final Cut Pro.

This 6 workshop series will give students the opportunity to work towards a BTEC First Certificate in Film Production.
